

3rd Annual MIG21 Client Conference in Paris well received

More than 30 people gathered at the local French MIG21 Client Conference held in Paris on February 13th. This conference is organized by Aquin France annually and provides the opportunity for local MIG21 customers in France to connect with peers and representatives from Aquin France and the Aquin headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany.

Aquin presented new features of MIG21 version 6.0 and of the upcoming release MIG21 version 6.1. One of the major enhancements of MIG21 6.0 is the Advanced Resolution Management module (MIG21 ARM), which integrates a workflow management and document management capability into the MIG21 system to support managing, monitoring and resolving of rule breaches. With automatically generated breach reports, MIG21 information is imported into ARM to enable the management of operational risk. All workflows are fully configurable while alerts secure efficient access to documents, status and analysis of relevant compliance data.

Another presentation addressed Aquin's Order Management module (ORS), which is tightly integrated with the MIG21 system. MIG21 in combination with ORS provides straight-through ex-ante and ex-post compliance monitoring with FIX and SWIFT connectivity.

One of the most discussed industry topics during the conference was MIFID. "We are pleased that our solution vendors are listening closely and connected to the market in order to match the MIG21 roadmap with new market needs proactively", said one of the customers at the conference.

Philippe Smolders, Country Manager of Aquin France, is happy that so many clients accepted Aquin's invitations to this conference. "This is a huge success, which demonstrates that our customers are committed to Aquin and its innovative compliance solution MIG21. With the recent important new customer wins in France, we are confident that we will organize a client conference again next year".
